

HYPERALLERGIC

November 1, 2016

EVENTS

ArtRx NYC

This week, New York City welcomes two comics festival, two print fairs, one internet flea market, and more.

Jillian Steinbauer | November 1, 2016

(via thekitchen.org)

H Sondra Perry's Solo Show

When: Opens Wednesday, November 2, 6–8pm

Where: The Kitchen (512 West 19th Street, Chelsea, Manhattan)

One of the standouts of MoMA PS1's last Greater New York was Sondra Perry's "Lineage for a Multiple-Monitor Work-station: Number One" (2015). Featuring members of the artist's family performing a series of rituals, but interrupted by Perry's computer monitor manipulations, the work is equal parts heartwarming and cryptic, hitting a resonant note between video art and home videos. I'm very excited to see what Perry gives us in her newest installation, opening this week at the Kitchen, where she'll dismantle respectability politics with the help of the Alien movies. —JS