

TODAY'S PROGRAM

Pots and Pans	Deep Listening Band
The Saucer's Apprentice	Deep Listening Band

Musician friends in Toronto and Paris have been invited to sit in with Deep Listening Band at The Kitchen. They can also interact with the Expanded Instrument System to control its processing of their playing.

This is an informal gathering, somewhat like what might happen if we ran into friends in New York and asked them to come around and sit in. The Electronic Cafe™ technology which makes this possible is still experimental and may be somewhat fragile, but we are anticipating a time when this technology is as transparent as the telephone.

“Pots and Pans” in The Kitchen contain that which is to be cooked. Here it is an opening prelude to warm up the performers and the audience and refers to the technology that allows us to fade sounds in and out and “pan” them through space.

“The Saucer's Apprentice” — the saucer in The Kitchen holds the cup. Here it takes the performers into places they haven't been before. It is in these places that the mysteries come forth and we do our best to deal with them.
