

ARTNEWS

February 2, 2017

10 Art Events to Attend in New York City
This Week

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 9

Performance: Raúl De Nieves and Colin Self's The Fool at the Kitchen

Raúl De Nieves and Colin Self's chamber opera The Fool is, according to a summary on the Kitchen's website, "an allegorical journey drawing an ante-narrative around time, beauty, communion, and mortality." Perhaps that doesn't help you understand what it is? Here's some more information, also from that summary: "The Fool is the spirit in search of experience. The Fool is both the beginning and the end, neither and otherwise, betwixt and between. The Fool is a story." Well, then! De Nieves, whose work will be in the upcoming Whitney Biennial, stars as the Fool and the Dog; Self plays the Old Woman.