

March 5, 2010

Off-Broadway spring preview

What's new in theater this season, from Dan Savage musicals to Fringe Fest hits

By Aaron Grunfeld
Special to Metromix
March 5, 2010

Our list of what to see in Off-Broadway theater this spring could be twice as long and still miss some great plays. That said, here's a top ten list of Off-Broadway hits, from Dan Savage musicals to Fringe Fest hits.

Jay Scheib, the mind behind the audacious "Bellona", has a reputation for creating out-there experiences that are difficult to translate into words. This tech-heavy work is based on an experimental 1970s sci-fi novel ("Dhalgren" by Samuel Delany). So expect it to be like the psychedelic finale of "2001", and a refreshing change from anything else you might see this spring. (April 1)